What this briefing asks

THE ASK

One thing: a conversation. Tairseach is raising €1 million to €1.5 million and is talking to investors who want a position in property intelligence early, while the layer underneath the market is still being built. The technology is built, it is selling, and customers are paying now.

Why now

Property is the world's largest asset class, and every large market eventually gets one intelligence layer everyone depends on. Search became that for the web, and Bloomberg for finance. That position in property is open, and taken once. Tairseach starts in Ireland and the UK, with conversations already open in America, Australia, the Middle East and Germany.

What it is, plainly

Tairseach is a property intelligence company. Ten components, each its own intelligence doing a different job for people who own or trade property at scale, from sourcing sites and derelict buildings to finding money leaking out of a portfolio and the value an owner is already sitting on. They run on one shared intelligence, and every job any component does makes that intelligence sharper for all the others. Five are live and earning today, five are in build.

What is already working

TEN VERTICALS, ONE SPINE

FIVE LIVE & EARNING EARNING Inspection and repairs A paying customer in Ireland came back to expand. The one part that makes its own data. IN SALES Sales and conversion Proven on real buyers, with over €50,000 in sales through a partner. LIVE Site sourcing Three property partners work from its output today. SHIPPED Energy and data-centre land Ranked Ireland's best data-centre site from public data. LIVE PILOT Derelict property A live pilot in Ireland, first building already named.	FIVE IN BUILD IN BUILD Commercial and institutional An eight-agent system for institutional owners. IN BUILD Residential and portfolio Portfolio, lease and planning intelligence on the same core. IN BUILD Recovery Finds money leaking from assets an owner holds, checkable in week one. IN BUILD Tenant and covenant risk Which tenants fail, what it costs, and who replaces them. IN BUILD Latent value Ranks every unexploited unlock with a euro number and the route to it.
THE SPINE One intelligence sits under all ten, and it grows stronger the more it is used. Every component feeds what it learns back into the same core, so every job makes every other job smarter. The more property Tairseach reads, the further ahead it gets.

What the investment is

PREFERRED STRUCTURE

€1.5m	20%	€6m	€7.5m
RAISE	EQUITY OFFERED	PRE-MONEY	POST-MONEY

The right investor brings more than capital: a network, access to live and potential clients, and a market that fits what this company does. Where that comes with the cheque, it is reflected in the terms. The raise builds the spine first, then the next three verticals off it, and carries the company into its first markets.

Who presents

Shane McCarthy, architect and owner of the technology. Governance, safety and security are designed into every part from version one. Ownership is fully documented, and the full thesis is available on request. Introductions come through the bearer of this brief.

“An investor is not buying ten tools. They are buying the thing that made the ten, and the thing that will make the next ten.”
