What Pat set out, what Shane wanted, and how they meet your checklist

Pat Carroll & Co: the controls

WHAT IT IS

Five papers dated 28 Oct for the 30 Oct meeting (founders pack, business plan, commitments record, IP solicitor scope, cash flow and KPI templates), plus the "Shane decisions list" and "Recommendations" pages. A framework of evidence, owners, deadlines and blockers.

THE POSITION IT TAKES

- Nothing is treated as done. Shane holds 100% today; 83% A and 17% B is a proposal, and the family 15 points sit inside Shane's 83%.
- Records before decisions: verify capital and title, settle constitutions, transfer subsidiaries, value, then award shares, with tax cleared before execution and the CRO deadlines met.
- The legal work is bought in priced phases with the cash source approved first. Independent review of your own award and appointment is required.
- One compiler for commitments (you or Tom), Shane confirms facts, Pat reviews only.

WHERE IT LEAVES YOU

- Proposed corporate coordinator, compiler, board member and 2% B shareholder.
- Chairman of the Board and Noesis secretary shown open, "[agree]".
- Pat as internal finance lead. Dates: 2, 4 and 6 Nov, then 13, 20 and 27 Nov.

Shane: the intent

WHAT IT IS

Shane's own papers: your 8 Oct work brief, the 29 Oct agenda, the 1 Nov group and companies paper with the structure chart, the vision, mission and values worksheet, and the project management demo.

THE POSITION IT TAKES

- A group of AI companies under Noesis as holding company, ODIN Labs under Asterial, Mac Enterprises outside the group, Kairos as his side businesses.
- For you: governance and legal compliance lead and secretary of Noesis, Asterial and SanCelvio. AI prepares, you challenge the substance, you bring him a recommendation.
- Aims for the meeting: shared understanding, clear responsibilities, priorities for the next four to five weeks, work needed before investment, owners and dates.
- Values he asked you to choose match your role: AI driven and human led, governance foundational.

WHAT HE HAS NOT GIVEN

- The company roster with CRO numbers, share evidence, the minutes and decisions of 30 Oct.
- He works from vision, structure and decisions, not checklists.

How they relate to your checklist, and what you wanted

Your checklist is the translation layer. Shane states the intent; Pat states the controls; neither states your own position. Your roles, the Chairman aim, the paid role, the equity and the side projects sit in the gap between them.

Keep it to five themes, asked as decisions Shane can answer in conversation: (1) the records and roster; (2) the board rules and who chairs; (3) your appointments and the roles you want; (4) commitments, money and legal route; (5) side projects, Meridian first. Pat's pages feed themes 1 and 4. Shane's feed 2 and 3. Theme 5 and your terms are yours to raise.

Who does what: Shane decides, Pat checks, you coordinate and bring the recommendation, and the outcome is minuted. That is the line to hold on Friday.
