

HOW INTENT BECOMES A DECISION YOU CAN DEFEND

The Wiring

One question in. One answer you can defend, out.

THE FLOOR UNDER EVERY ANSWER

The floor is not overhead. It is the product.

Grounding rule	No statute, figure or fact ships unless it was pulled from its primary source. From memory is never fact.
Status labels	Draft, in review, decision-ready. Only decision-ready means John can rely on it, and the blocker is always named.
Fail closed and the human gate	Near any line, or below 80% confidence, it holds and pulls John in. The high-stakes four always stop for him.
Audit trail	Who produced it, from which sources, what the critic found, at what confidence. Every answer shows its lineage.

TRACED ONCE A tight cash brief on a Galway builders' merchant routes to Finance, Business Transformation and Legal at once. Each works it, the critic checks the numbers, and Meridian returns one answer: the true cash position, the two fastest wins, the directors' duties flag, and the succession talk that is coming. One brief in, one defensible answer out.
